Lake Shore Central Schools, through its district web site and participation in professional education organizations and school improvement initiatives, would like to publish student work in printed reports or on the World Wide Web, a part of the Internet.

The reasons for publishing student work are:

1. to showcase exemplary student work
2. to share with educational professionals for training purposes
3. for the purpose of preparing effective reports and presentations to the Board of Education and District personnel.

Terms of Consent to Publish

We understand that our daughter or son's art work, writing, or physical image may be considered for publication on the Lake Shore Central School's Web Site and/or as part of a report as described above. Further, we understand that with such use no home address or telephone number will be appear and that when crediting the student author, or son or daughter's last name will not be used.

We understand that the published work will appear with a copyright notice prohibiting the copying of such work without express written permission. Also, we understand that these publications are for the reasons stated above and do not incur any costs or constitute any revenues and there is no monetary compensation for consent to publish.

Permission is granted by the affixing of the signature of a parent or legal guardian. Permission granted here does not expire but may be revoked in writing by parental authority.

I grant permission for our son/daughter's student work/images to be published under the conditions detailed above.	Parent's Signature:	Date:
